

SuperYachtWorld

The global magazine for super yacht owners

BROKERAGE YACHTS SPECIAL

Family Yachts • Sailing Yachts
Great for Charter • Perfect Projects
10 Yachts to Buy Today

Tamara: Rominavi's modern classic
The vision of Clayton Reeves Millennium Cup magic

Daring to DREAM

One owner's bold new 50-metre Heesen Ann G

She's a strong statement of INTENT. The uses of SPACE really catch the eye

SUERTE

A first, remarkable yacht from Tankoa

As statements of intent go, Tankoa's first yacht, the 69.4-metre Suerte, is formidable. The brief for the interior design team of Francesco Paszkowski and Margherita Casprini was for something modern and yet warm, and that has certainly been delivered. The brushed teak woodwork is light and welcoming, but it's the use of spaces throughout that really catches the eye – the main salon is divided into a relaxed 'winter garden' area aft, a sociable media area (left), and a formal dining space. Throughout, artworks and art photographs add a personal flavour. Also on the main salon are three VIPs and two twin guest cabins, with a huge master on the deck above. The owner's deck has some stellar features, including a hot-tub forward of the suite, a relaxing lounge, and an alfresco dining area. On the sundeck, there is space for a pool and a touch-and-go helipad.

Contact www.tankoa.it

MOKA

Sanlorenzo's first explorer

When you create your first explorer yacht, you need a decent proving ground. Sanlorenzo has found just that for Moka, the yard's first 460Exp, which left Viareggio on her maiden voyage to Florida, 5,600 cruising miles away. Despite some close encounters with winter Atlantic depressions, the yacht came through with not even the hint of a drama, and she is now off cruising warmer climes with her owner. The steel-and-aluminium 48-metre is a new development for the yard, but it has clearly hit a sweet-spot: three other yachts have been sold and are in build. There are five guest suites below and an owner's suite on the main deck.

Contact www.sanlorenzoyacht.com

